

Active Scenes from the Campaign in Serbia

Ten ox teams are required to place a Serbian heavy field gun in position.

Photos by International News Service.

Gunners of the British Navy assisting the Serbs in assembling their guns.

Serbian artillery shelling an Austrian advance.

Artillery officers on the lookout within the walls of Semeniria fortress.

Serbian infantry intrenched on a hill awaiting a charge.

The Crown Prince of Serbia and Rear Admiral Troubridge on a tour of inspection.

Serbian field artillery shelling the Austrian trenches. A 3-inch field piece of the Serbian artillery in action, showing the hoist caused by recoil.